

Abstract

Coal Mining and Subsequent Reclamation of the Landscape in Area of the Sokolov Basin

A bachelor thesis is focused on a detailed analysis of existing and published data sources dealing with coal mining and subsequent reclamation of landscape in the studied area of the Sokolov Basin. The main aim is general characteristic of the consequences of mining in the studied area including a detailed description of the specific types of reclamations. The thesis contains also detailed characteristics of done or still processed reclamations at sites of the Sokolov Basin, i.e., mines of Michal, Medard-Libík, Družba and Jiří.